In the case of an online survey, respondents independently fill out the electronic form on the specialized website “sanaq.gov.kz”.

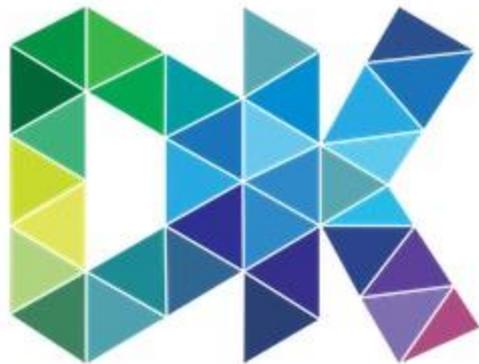

In the online mode, the respondent passes the registration procedure, determining his status and identification by means of his identification data, mobile phone number and e-mail address. When filling in census sheets in the online mode, the relevant classifiers and reference books are attached to the questions when selecting answers.

Format-logical controls (FLC) for filling and transitions from question to question will be laid.

After the completion of the online survey, the respondent receives a notice of passing census to the email and mobile phone specified during registration.
